

THE BIRTH OF PARENT TALES

Parent Tales first began as an online Facebook forum for parents. In its humble beginnings the forum stood as an avenue for parents to openly share knowledge and queries about all types of parenting topics; while shedding light on the challenging and taboo topics.

From then, Bright Life Family Centre saw the need to connect with parents in a more personal way, resulting in an improved sharing and learning experience (parent to parent and parent to professional). Through our programme of planned monthly activities and events we directly enhanced the helping relationship between family/child-care professionals and parents. The programme also helps to build links and bridges so parents can connect to the resources they need from service and product providers.

ABOUT OUR CREATORS

Bright Life Family Centre (BLFC) is a faith-based social enterprise established primarily to address a range of psycho-social, emotional and behavioural issues that many families and individuals face daily.

We provide professional Therapeutic Counselling and Educational services that empower lives and restore hope for brighter futures. One of our ultimate aims is to help support and partner with a wide community of groups, organisations and businesses within Barbados and abroad with the common goal of family restoration. Ultimately, we are geared towards helping those in need work towards positive and progressive change.

COME CONNECT

Visit Our Blog:

www.brightlifefamilycentre.org/parenttalesfamilyblog

Get SOCIAL with the Parent Tales Family!

Find Us On Your Favourite Social Networks:

CONTACT US

Learn how you can be a part of the community with our new membership packages or how you can be an agent of change by lending your support:

T: (246) 264 -9109

E: parenttales@brightlifefamilycentre.org

Join our growing family community. Share, learn and grow with other parents, caregivers and child & family experts as we journey together.

What is The Parent Tales Family Community and who does it cater to?

Parent Tales is a growing family community programme developed and powered by Bright Life Family Centre (BLFC), where parents in particular get to share, learn and grow with other parents, caregivers and child & family care professionals about the interesting and unpredictable journey of parenting.

We welcome all parents, child & family professionals as well as service providers to come and connect with our growing family community.

Parenting, Family & Community

As a member of our warm family oriented community, you will be encouraged, inspired and motivated to be the best parent you can possibly be. Our hope is that you lack for nothing throughout your journey as a parent as we connect you with the best educational resources and family support systems you will need on your parenting journey.

The Parent Tales Family Blog

Our blog reaches out to a range of household types using creative, educative, relatable and intriguing reading materials. It brings our readers entertainment, encouragement and satisfaction, by addressing a range of issues they face daily. The blog caters primarily to both new and mature parents seeking advice, answers, and enjoyment simply from the sharing of experiences, knowledge and advice of our lovable, engaging bloggers.

Parent Tales Community Events

At our events we are driven to provide the most open, care-free and stress-free environment for all participants. We strive to provide the best combination of interactive, educational and therapeutic components that will help participants gain the knowledge and skills needed for their journey as parents. Events such as our Parent Lounge Events, Parent Seminars & Webinars, Parent Retreats, Parent Expos and Conferences are just some of the unique and exciting avenues that we use to connect with and actively support our growing parent community.

Share. Learn. Grow.

Share your thoughts and ideas freely and openly in a relaxing and supportive environment.

Learn with other moms and dads just like you, with whom you can relate. Learn also from parenting and family expert professionals.

Grow and develop to your greatest potential as an individual, with multiple duties in your role as a parent using our unique and wholistic approach to continual growth and personal wellness.

Don't forget to sign-up for our Newsletter on our Facebook page & follow us on Facebook & Instagram!